BUSINESS NINETY DAYS.

W. W. Moss, who was appointed receiver of the Hitt Lumber Company some months ago, following the filing of bankruptcy proceedings, was named as trustee of the concern at a meeting of the creditors held here Saturday. Mr. Moss was given authority to operate the plant for the next ninety days.

At the meeting of creditors, Jere Murphy, of Huntsville, referee for this federal district, presided. The bankrupt was represented by Callahan & Harris, Decatur attorneys, while the creditors were represented by E. C. Nix, Eyster & Eyster and E. W. Godbey.

The Hitt Lumber Company, one of the largest corporations doing business in the state, was thrown into involuntary bankruptcy upon the filing of petitions by creditors in the United States district court at Huntsville. The creditors represented claims in excess of half a million dollars.

Wilson's Next Step Against Germany Is Still Kept a Secret

(International News Service.)
Washington, Feb. 19.—The administration's "next step" to meet the German submarine situation today remained carefully concealed.

White House and state department sources insist that it has been fully planned, but the nature and whether it will be made regardless of the developments of the submarine situation insofar as the sinking of vessels without warning is concerned, continues a carefully guarded secret.

W. E. MORRIS, NEW PRESIDING ELDER OF DECATUR DISTRICT, IN STRONG SERMON

OCCUPIES PULPIT SUNDAY MORN-
ING AT CENTRAL METHODIST CHURCH OF ALBANY.

CROSS' POWER IS SUBJECT JEWS WERE GREATLY DISAPPOINTED IN JESUS, EXPECTING A MILITARY LEADER.

Presiding Elder William E. Morris, of the Decatur district, occupied the pulpit of the Central Methodist church yesterday morning and preached on the personal attractive power of Christ. Dr. Morris succeeds former Elder Ira F. Hawkins and now has his residence in Decatur. For a number of years he was stationed as pastor of the Highland M. E. church in Birmingham, which church is one of the largest of the North Alabama conference. The new elder is the recording secretary of his conference. In this office he succeeded the late Dr. J. W. Newman, who a few years ago was pastor of the First Methodist church of Decatur.

The revised rendering of the text is found in John 12-32, which is as follows:

"And if I be lifted up will draw all men unto myself."

Dr. Morris said in part:

"Jesus was a dire disappointment to the Jews. They were expecting a Messiah, but they did not expect a Messiah to come in purity and peace as Jesus did. They expected a Titan who would lift the Roman heel of oppression from their necks. In their dreams the Jews saw a militant and military Messiah, who before unfurled banners and to martial music would march at the head of a Jewish victory and found a new empire in human blood. Their expectancy was in an earthly throne. They wished for a kingdom whose matchless sweep should extend over and subdue all other kingdoms. So when Jesus came and made righteousness and peace supreme, not power and military glory their enthusiasm passed away. As long as Christ turned stones to bread; multiplied the fishes, healed the physically sick, restored sight and sightly works, they had a leader who they could follow. But when His real purpose appeared, people began to forsake Him in great multitudes. At one time this stuffing off was so great that He turned to his disciples and said: 'will ye also go away?'

A Shout of Coming Triumph.
"More and more the universal call of His kingdom came to Him. He knew that the circumscribed idea of His coming to the Jews only must pass. He was want to assure them, however, that he came first to the lost sheep of the house of Israel, although his kingdom should not be a worldly one. When He told all plainly, that His way was the way of the cross, this thought they wished to put far from them. For the cross was the symbol of shame and crime. Could He change its meaning? At times when foreign people like those Greeks, who 'could see Jesus,' came to Him, Christ's universal kingdom must have unfolded to Him. At such times He could exclaim triumphantly, 'And if I be lifted up will draw all men unto myself.' Though Christ was cosmopolitan and spoke truths for all peoples and all times, He must have often felt His limitations. He worked among one people, was never out of Palestine, and perhaps spoke only the Hebrew tongue. But through the means of His own sacrifice He saw a way to draw all men unto Him. The course of the grain that must needs fall into the ground and die, pass through mortification, humility, and a certain slugging come to Him. That is just the way it must be with life. I cannot escape the humility, the degradation, the shadow of the cross! What shall I say, is the cry of the Master. Did the temptations imposed by Satan on the mount and in the wilderness come to Him? But Christ's answer was that he would stand the necessary agony to lift our sin. 'Father, glorify thy name,' was His prayer.

Cross a Great Symbol.
"Christ did change the cross from a symbol of disgrace and shame to one of love and power. Whether it is on a spire, used as a pendant or on a

JOHN M'CLUSKEY DIES SUDDENLY

John McCluskey, for many years past a citizen of Albany, was found dead in bed this morning at his home, heart trouble probably causing his untimely demise.

Mr. McCluskey came to Albany in 1890 from his old home in Lawrence county where he was born. For fifteen years he was foreman of the tank gang of the Louisville & Nashville shops. He was 57 years of age.

Mr. McCluskey is survived by his wife and three children, one son and two daughters, his daughters being married. He had one brother, James, who lived in Birmingham.

The sudden death of Mr. McCluskey caused much sorrow among his friends who saw him on the streets of Albany as late as Saturday.

The funeral arrangements had not been made this morning.

GUARDSMEN ARE LEAVING BORDER ON MANY TRAINS; REGULAR ARMY ON GUARD

(International News Service.)
Washington, Feb. 19.—A report that a band of 100 American cowboys have crossed into Mexico to avenge the recent murder of American ranchers there had not been officially confirmed here early today. War department officials expressed the hope that it was untrue, as such action might complicate the general situation.

The war department today was getting trains to the border to expedite the return to their home stations of the various national guard units. They were hopeful that in another month the entire border patrol would be in the hands of the regular army.

NEW SALVATION ARMY LEADER HAS ARRIVED

Capt. and Mrs. E. Shackelford, of Hattiesburg, Miss., arrived here today, where they have been assigned to the station recently held by Captain and Mrs. Davis. They will enter upon their new duties at once.

Envoy Walker, also of Hattiesburg, was here en route to Florence, where he will have charge of the army hall at that city.

The Salvation Army officers were just from the Birmingham council, which was attended by more than 100 Army workers from all over the South. The Army men occupied practically all the Birmingham pulpits on Sunday.

GERMAN SUB, NOT AN AUSTRIAN, SANK THE LYMAN M. LAW

Advices to This Effect Have Reached

(International News Service.)
Rome, Feb. 19.—According to information given to Thomas Nelson Page, the United States ambassador, the submarine which sank the American sailing ship Lyman M. Law was German instead of Austrian, as first reported.

Capt. Stephen McDonough, master of the ship, who made an affidavit to Roger C. Treadwell, the American consul, said: "All of the men on the submarine looked like Germans."

The crew of the Lyman M. Law will probably sail from some Spanish port and may go to Barcelona and sail from there on the Infanta Isabel, the same ship Ambassador Gerard, former American ambassador to Germany, will use on his voyage home.

SANTIAGO IS NEXT CUBAN OBJECTIVE

CAPTURE OF THIS STRONGHOLD
REAL TEST OF GOVERNMENT'S EFFICIENCY.

(International News Service.)
Havana, Feb. 19.—The Cuban revolution is expected to reach a crisis this week.

Successes have attended every move of the government forces in putting down the revolt so far but the real test will come when the troops of President Menocal endeavor to wrest Santiago from rebel hands.

The government is now concentrating its troops in Oriente for the drive against the city.

An official statement given out today said that the government would not under any circumstances negotiate with the enemy.

A blockade of the entire south coast of Cuba was established by the government today to prevent the escape of ex-President Gomez, and his party of revolutionary aides.

Santiago harbor also falls under the ban.

AEROPLANES HUNT DOWN SUBMARINES

11 Members Of Crew Of Romsdale, British Ship Are Missing; 121 Ships Sunk To Date

(International News Service.)
New York, Feb. 19.—The destruction of a German submarine in an engagement lasting 40 minutes was reported by the French steamer Guyane on her arrival here today.

The Guyane left Bordeaux on January 21, and the German submarine was sighted off the port side the next day about 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Captain Rousselot of the Guyane brought his stern to bear on the submarine. The submarine in the meantime had fired three shots at the Guyane, all of which fell short.

Two shots from the 65-millimeter guns on the Guyane's stern struck the submarine squarely and she was seen to slowly settle and disappeared entirely within 3 minutes. Captain Rousselot said not a man appeared on the submarine's deck.

RAILROAD BILL, WEBB EXPORT

ALL HAVE A DISMAL OUTLOOK.

(International News Service.)
Washington, Feb. 19.—With only 12 more working days remaining before adjournment on March 4, congress today was confronted with a seemingly hopeless legislative job.

A 14-hour work day was planned by leaders to help speed up action on the "must" list. No amount of speeding up, however, will save some of the most important measures from the legislative scrap heap. The railroad bill, the Webb export bill, the bill enlarging the interstate commerce commission, the rivers and harbors and flood control measures—all on the calendar with favorable committee reports, have rather dismal prospects. It will keep the senate hustling to pass the regular appropriation bills, the revenue bill, the spy and conspiracy measures, the Porto Rico bill, the Danish West Indies appropriation bill.

Leaders admitted today that it would require constant prodding to get even these bills through the senate. However, it is accepted among officials today that the president will not call an extra session of congress.

SPRING CAMPAIGN OPENS ALL ALONG THE WESTERN FRONT

(International News Service.)
London, Feb. 19.—Press dispatches from the French theatre of war, which are borne out by the official communications of the French, British and German war offices, show that there are increased military activities all along the western front.

From the North Sea to the Swiss frontier troops on both sides are engaged in direct counter attacks, patrol and scouting enterprises or trench raids.

The big guns are busy all along the line, particularly on the Franco-Belgian frontier, on the Somme front in Champagne and in the sector of Verdun.

ONE LIGHT FLICKERS;
STILL RAY OF HOPE.

Publishers of the smaller newspapers of the United States saw temporary relief from present galling conditions in the print paper market in press dispatches recently sent out to the effect that the Federal Trade Commission had at its disposal some 460 tons of the precious material that it would dole out where most needed at a price some 100 per cent less than that now offered by jobbers, and some 80 per cent higher than the prices that prevailed before the outbreak of the European war.

That little light flickered. Then it went out. The Daily, which investigated the matter to the extent of getting into communication with the Federal Trade Commission, received a reply which said: "The quantity of paper is small, could only be applied locally and would be but a small part of that which would be necessary to bring any substantial and general relief throughout the country. For this reason the commission has determined, for the present at least, not to undertake the distribution."

This would be a rather cruel disappointment, except for the fact that the Commission flashes a second ray of hope, when it says: "Manufacturers representing a considerable proportion of the tonnage consumed in the United States have just proposed to the Commission a plan for re-adjusting prices and distribution, which, if carried out, will have a far-reaching effect on the present situation."

A federal grand jury is credited with furnishing the stimulus that has caused certain manufacturers to call a halt in their price-robbing. The manufacturers are said to have offered a compromise to the Federal Trade Commission to escape prosecution. If the terror of the law does something to remove the tax upon intelligence levied by the merciless paper trust, then indeed will succor have come from an unexpected quarter. The only question that now confronts the small publisher, is whether he will be included in the agreement that is made with the Trade Commission, or will he be left in the hands of the paper jobber?

It would be clipping along if Alabama should secure both the armor plate plant and the nitrate plant. The diversity of resources of the state is illustrated by the fact that in addition to its wonderful agricultural possibilities, it should be considered as a real competitor for these two big industries of widely dissimilar nature. Besides, it has the Tennessee river affording water communication with the world at one end of the state and the great harbor of Mobile at the other.

Of course, if America arms its merchantmen, it will give the Kaiser the right of amputation if he thinks it wise to pose as the great surgeon.

PROF. TIDWELL'S SPLENDID WORK DESERVES ENDORSEMENT.

The splendid work done in the advancement of Morgan county along educational lines by Prof. J. C. Tidwell, county superintendent of public instruction, deserves the flattering endorsement of a unanimous re-election by the county board of education at its meeting tomorrow. A change in the law by the last legislature prevented Prof. Tidwell from receiving this endorsement at the hands of the voters, and provided for the election of the head of the county school system in future by the board of education.

During his incumbency, Prof. Tidwell has done two notable services. He has conducted a campaign against illiteracy that has had a wide-spread influence. Men and women in the evening of life have been taught to read and write. On them has been bestowed that greatest of boons—the ability to read their own Bibles with their own eyes. Others, who have before them many years of usefulness and activity, have had their earning capacity doubled, possibly increased many fold. The handicaps of early opportunity have been removed. Again when the educational amendment to the constitution of Alabama was in the balance, Prof. Tidwell was at the fore working for its passage. Where mere politicians might have dodged the issue for fear of losing personal popularity, he stood four square to the winds and made a campaign of remarkable energy and effectiveness.

At this time especially, when the new law gives to the superintendent the right to recommend all the county teachers, should Prof. Tidwell, who so thoroughly knows the capacity and temperament of each, be left where the people placed him.

Having demonstrated leadership, having shown that he is the man for the place, Prof. Tidwell deserves the heartiest possible endorsement. The Daily believes that he will receive this, despite the fact that there are any number of men who would like to fill the office.

Anti-prohibitionists who are voting for drastic prohibition laws under the illusion that this will hasten temperance, won't have to watch their steps if they carry out their designs. For, once gone, the liquor jug will never return.

National Defense

New York, Feb. 17.—Two enormous mine fields will assist in protecting the port of New York in the event of war with Germany.

They are said to be the most elaborate and intricate mine field a nation has ever devised. Foreign military experts, it is said by the United States army men, admit this nation has the best harbor mine type in the world.

The coast artillery corps and the corps of engineers have the mine fields all completed save the last detail, the actual laying of the mines. The big spheres are now stored here by the hundreds.

The mine fields which have been plotted for the protection of New York are off Sandy Hook—the outpost of the more frequently used southern gate to the city—and off Sands Point, the northern entrance by way of Long Island sound. The extent of these fields has, for obvious reasons, been one of the artillery's carefully guarded secrets. When the mines are laid the warning, "Do not attempt to pass the Hook or enter the Sound," will, it is believed, suffice to indicate the wide areas charged with the most powerful explosive man has yet compounded—the deadly T. N. T.—trinitrotoluol.

In mining these two areas, not only have the recognized and charted channels been designated for the emplacement of explosives, but also the adjacent waters of sufficient depth to permit the passage of submarines and light draught vessels. For the coast defenders are determined that not even a rowboat shall pass when war closes the gates of New York. And, supplementing the mines, powerful searchlights are to play constantly upon the fields during the night as they played from Forts Wadsworth and Hamilton upon the lower bay when war was declared on Spain.

The mines in the two areas will be set in four to a square of 100 yards, each four making one electric series, connected by cable with a bomb-proof casement ashore. By a new device it will be possible for the operator at the switchboard in the casement to make the mine field deadly, either for contact detonation or explosion at will, or for him to render any number of mines harmless by the mere throwing of a switch. It is planned that at certain times the channel mines will be switched off to permit, for instance, the passage of an American man-of-war, but a large part of the field will be kept "alive" always.

It is generally understood that each mine carries a charge of 200 pounds of trinitrotoluol—sufficient to sink the largest dreadnought afloat.

New York, Feb. 17.—Hundreds of girls have joined the National Girl Scouts since the break with Germany. Mrs. Juliette Low, the national president, announced today. She hopes to recruit the organization up to the strength of the Boy Scouts of America. The girls have offered their services to the American Red Cross to be utilized in case of emergency.

A training school for girl scout masters has been opened here. A letter was made public today from Sir Robert Baden-Powell, telling of the work of the Girl Guides, equivalent to the scouts, in England, and saying he believes that, as the mothers of future generations, the girls' work is more important than the boys.

Just In Passing

THE GREAT UNWASHED.

"I recently read in a publication devoted to teaching that many of the pupils of rural schools went for a whole term without taking a bath, and decided to put it to the test," said a well known educator of this county. "The other morning I made a test. To my surprise, quite a number of my pupils held up their hands when asked if they had gone the season through without ablutions. I was shocked at this abstinence in the use of soap and water, and could hardly believe that it could be true. The brightest boy in the school was one of the first to plead guilty."

"This incident," the educator continued, "reminded me of the experience of a friend who made a similar test while teaching in Chicago. One of her pupils, when asked if he had taken a bath during the term, very emphatically replied that he had not, and further asserted that she was 'sewed up for the winter.' Investigation showed that the child had been dressed in its winter flannels by its parents and these then sewed on in such a thorough way that they could not be removed by the wearer."

THE TREND IN MOVIES.

"The trend in movies has been, like the trend in novels, towards the solution of the big problems of life—all of them age old," said Manager Cagle of the local playhouses. "When picture production was in its infancy, the public was regaled with a series of 'chases.' No actor without sprightly ability could star in those days. Then came the 'wild west' picture, with Anderson generally in the stellar role. It was the melodramatic and the mock-heroic that appealed to the owners of the dimes and the nickels. Then came comedy—much of it very low. Now the public everywhere is packing the houses that show the higher class problem pictures. These all point a moral, and are intended to uplift as well as to instruct."

IN BALMY FLORIDA.

"A day like this in Florida would be considered very cold," said Judge William E. Skeggs, who returned last week after several weeks spent in that state. "Florida has very few days as cool as this. I have been at Tarpon Springs and would like to spend the entire winter there if I could get away from business here. However, I believe we have passed the worst part of the cold weather here, and Alabama is a mighty good place to live."

AMONG OLD FRIENDS.

"I have enjoyed my week in court in Madison county," said Solicitor D. C. Almon. "I went back to Huntsville Monday as solicitor of the circuit court for the first time in ten years, the new re-circuiting law having put Madison county back in my district. I have met many old friends in Madison county during the past week, and I was glad to get back. Huntsville itself is growing. The city has a new bank and other projects in course of construction."

Spring and Clothes

Dear Public:

There is no time of the year when mother nature adorns herself in quite so beautiful attire as in the spring. There are few times in the year when the men folks appreciate good clothes so much as then.

I have received my spring woollens and they are beautiful. Just the thing for spring and summer—right up to the minute in design—patterns you will like to wear. I am pleased when I find a "man from Missouri," a man who wants to be shown, for I know I can give him the quality, the pattern and the fit at the price he wants to pay.

Grace Episcopal church was the scene of a lovely wedding Saturday morning when Miss Kathryn Gregory and Mr. Dawson Mullen were united in marriage, the Rev. L. G. H. Williams, rector, officiating. The church was beautifully decorated with palms and quantities of white carnations. The ushers were Mr. Walter Hunter and Dr. Karl Kemmel. Miss Leslie Hinkle played the Lohengrin wedding march as the bridal party entered. Little Frances McEwen and Frances Lile were the flower girls carrying baskets of flowers. Following them was Miss Carrie Lee Wilmot, maid of honor, who wore a gray tailored dress, and carried pink Killarney roses. Bride and groom entered together, she wearing a going-away gown of Newport tan cloth and carrying a bouquet of Bride roses and valley lilies. AMUSEMENTS

"WHERE ARE MY CHILDREN?"
MASONIC TODAY.

The powerful lesson which is brought home by that marvelous photo drama, "Where Are My Children?" is so masterful, so dignified, so delicate, and yet so convincing that one wonders what master mind directed such a picture. And it is interesting to note that a woman is responsible for this story which United States Senator Stone calls a "modern Bible." That woman is none other than Lois Weber, in private life Mrs. Phillips Smalley, one of the foremost writers and producers of the American screen.

Mrs. Smalley is a practical idealist. Her ideal is to bring the screen into closer relation with life—to make true photoplays. Her personality suggests inexhaustible vitality, a clear, active mind, and the determination of a woman accustomed to dealing with men and beating them at their own game. In accounting for the human touches so frequent in her work—the subtle bits of sympathetic characterization—it is worth knowing that she came in close touch with interesting phases of life during her most impressionable years before she became an actress. "I did missionary work in the slums of New York and on Blackwell's Island," she explains, "especially among poor girls, and I know them and their problems."

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire to express our thanks and appreciation for the many kind acts and manifestations of sympathy during the final illness of my husband and our father, and for the many floral tributes.

WOULD BE WILLING TO WALK 20 MILES
TO TELL OF TANLACMISS MCKENZIE GAINS 25 POUNDS
AND HEALTH IS RESTORED—
THOUGHT CASE HOPELESS.

"I have gained all of twenty-five pounds on Tanlac and I would be willing to walk twenty miles any day to tell anyone suffering as I did what the medicine has done for me," said Miss Adeline A. McKenzie, residing at 424 Sixth street, south, Nashville, Tenn.

"I suffered from attacks of nervous prostration for eighteen months," continued Miss McKenzie. "My case seemed to be a peculiar one, as the doctors differed in their opinion as to what the cause of my trouble really was. Some said it was due to bad blood circulation and others called it something else. I had no appetite and my stomach, after eating, would burn terribly. If I had swallowed a coal of fire the burning couldn't have been much more intense. I would become right hot all over, my pulse would seem to stop beating and then I would turn cold and stiff. I was so nervous I couldn't keep still, and frequently I was unable to sleep at all. I lost at least sixty pounds in weight, and was hardly more than a frame and could scarcely creep around. I took medicine after medicine, but I kept getting worse and in this awful condition life was hardly worth living."

"My brother persuaded me to take Tanlac and by the time I had finished my second bottle my appetite began to improve and my troubles began to leave. That dead, numb feeling disappeared and I kept gaining flesh and strength. The burning in the stomach and throat and chest all left me and I can eat anything I want. All my nervousness is gone and I sleep like a child every night. I have taken eight bottles of Tanlac and whatever my troubles were they have been removed and my health is restored. I thank God for giving men brains and skill to prepare such a fine medicine for the benefit of suffering humanity."

Tanlac is sold in Albany exclusively by Preuit-Dillehay Drug Co.; in Decatur by Decatur Drug Co.; in Trinity by O. E. Young Drug Co.; in Flint by C. E. Poole & Co.; in Priceville by J. E. Matthews; in Somerville by W. T. Ransom, and in Danville by B. S. Stover. (Adv.)

REV. WM. E. MORRIS,
New Presiding Elder of This District.

W. E. MORRIS NEW PRESIDING ELDER

watch chain, the cross is ever significant of Christ's love. He was bound to the cross as the expression of God's greatest love to mankind. God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on Him should not perish, but have everlasting life. The sneers and jeers of those who walked by Him and challenged Christ to deliver Himself from the cross were of no avail. It was not nails, or spikes, or strong cords that held Him; it was His undying love for us that held Him to the cross. The cross will ever be the token of His love.

"Christ never did disassociate His suffering and His victorious triumph. His kingship over kings and that He should sit at God's right hand were ever in His mind. There is no power like that which emanates from the cross. A million steel columns seventeen feet in diameter are said to have as much drawing power as the sun. Every agency and every power that is seeking to purify civilization and uplift humanity is directly or indirectly traceable to the cross of Christ. Magnet of Humanity.

"But it is Christ after all who draws people. The cross is a symbol of His sacrifice, but only a symbol. It is He himself that is the great power. He is humanity's great magnet. They have magnets so great in the steel industries that they can lift tons and tons of metal, but no power is to be mentioned in the same association with that of Christ. He can lift men from any depth to any height. Neither fleeing from punishment or seeking a haven of rest will avail. The ones who are going to see Christ at God's right hand are the ones who love and serve Christ. There is no religion save that religion which draws us to love Christ with a consuming power, such as will move us to follow His example in the matter of sacrifice and in everything else.

A Great Painter's Example.

"If we will make Christ attractive to our fellows we must lift Him above every other consideration. We must put Him first. Leonardo de Vinci, who painted the wonderful picture of the 'Last Supper,' was showing it to a friend as he was about completing it. When his friend put out his hand and pointed to a painted goblet on the table and remarked on its beauty and perfection, the great painter as quick as a flash drew his brush and painted out the offending goblet with the remark, 'I want nothing to remain that will detract attention from the face of my Lord.' Brethren, if you would live so as to attract men to Him, you must put out of your lives all things that are below Christ's standards."

Birmingham Couple
Gets License Here

Last Payment Is Made
By City On Fire Truck

Decatur now owns her fire truck, without any outside claim on the vehicle. The last payment on the machine, amounting to $1,650, has been made and the check sent to the La France Company, from which it was bought about five years ago.

The machine cost the city $6,500 with interest and the notes were taken up systematically by the city. Officials of the municipality were very much pleased today over the closing of the account.

Resolutions On Death
Of Maj. W. R. Francis

Adopted by the Morgan County Bar at Memorial Meeting Recently Held.

Appropriate resolutions on the death of Maj. W. R. Francis, distinguished attorney and politician, who died recently, were adopted at a meeting of the Morgan County Bar association, and are as follows:

Whereas, We have learned with keen regret that our venerable brother, William R. Francis, has been called before the tribunal whose decree is beyond review; and in whose proceedings error doth not supervene; therefore, be it resolved by the Bar of Morgan county, Alabama, in a meeting duly convened:

First. That Major Francis was a honorable and honored member of the bar for almost thirty years, during which lengthy period, his fidelity to a client was never impugned; his fairness to the court was never questioned; and unprofessional or chameptious conduct on his part was never insinuated; and his code of professional ethics was in accord with the left-just traditions of the bar of a part era that left nothing to be improved upon by venturesome innovations and experiments.

Second. That Major Francis was true to his friends, his church, and to his country, on whose altar he laid his life in early manhood; and although the supreme sacrifice was not required of him, his halting gait and distorted frame, for more than fifty years, constantly proclaimed the toll taken of him by that war into which he ardently plunged in defense of his convictions, his Southland, and his beloved state, upon whose escutcheon is inscribed the legend more inspiring than that of any other—The Volunteer State.

Third. Resolved further: That in his strict regard for professional ethics, his quiet and unobtrusive demeanor, his punctilious regard for his obligations, his freedom from all stirring up of strife, his sober and temperate habits, his orderly walk and conversation, there is much that is worthy of the most faithful emulation by the younger, as well as the older members of our profession.

Fourth. Resolved further: That we, individually and collectively, deplore the sad necessity of this final leave taking of our friend and brother; and that we condole with the relatives whom he has likewise bid a last adieu; and that as a mark of our respect we attend his obsequies in a body; that in token of our sympathy we tender a copy of these resolutions to his surviving kindred; and as an evidence of our esteem, and in commemoration of the virtues of the deceased, we present to the circuit court of this county, a copy hereof that the same be enrolled upon its minutes as a permanent memorial of him.

Yours For Service and Pleasure—The Maxwell

THE MAXWELL car was built primarily for service, under normal conditions. The company never intended that the car should be used for racing tests and other extraordinary stunts; but the designers built exceedingly well, and it is interesting to note some recent performances of the Maxwell:

In August, 1916, tests for the economy of Maxwell Cars were made by Prof. David L. Gallup, professor of gas engineering of Worcester Polytechnic Institute, at the Narragansett Park speedway, Providence, R. I. The following results were obtained and announced by him:
